

English –

Please continue to listen to/read through the story of Too Much Talk (You Tube) again if you need to remind yourselves of the different characters and what they say.

Today we would like you to role play the story of Too Much Talk. This will help you to learn the story off by heart.

You could ask other members of your family to help you act out the story or you could decide which part of the story is your favourite and act that part.

Remember to add expression and actions where necessary.

If you are able, it would be lovely if you could record your version to show to us later.

Phonics

Our learning this week has been about compound words. This is when two individual words are joined together to make a new word.

Hopefully, you were able to make many new words from the words eye, fire, some.

To consolidate your learning, we would like you to complete the following activities:

1. Word search
2. Unscrambling mixed up compound words to use in sentences.

Maths -

Please continue to practise moving different things (including yourselves) by turning:

- Clockwise and anti-clockwise
- Quarter, half, three-quarter and full turns

This link below takes you to a fun website page where you can click on a man to make him rotate. Can you solve the challenge, and see what different turns he might have done to get to his new position?

Further challenges that you can solve about rotation are found via the link below. The pack has the challenge problems, and the answer sheets.

Theme - Who are the Maasai tribe?

Read, watch and discuss the information on the PowerPoint (link below)

- What is Maasai culture like?
- How is it similar or different to yours?
- What do you see in the videos?
- What did you hear?

Can you create a mind map of all the information you have learned about the Maasai tribe?

CHALLENGE: Watch clips of the Maasai jumping dance. How high can you jump? How could you measure it?
